HERBERT GEORGE GUTMAN
ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR
DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK AT BUFFALO
BUFFALO, NEW YORK

Pages 1 and 2 of the April 15, 1948, edition of the "Long Island Star Journal," a New York City daily newspaper, disclosed that captioned person had, as a member of the Queens College Student Council, voted to charter at this college a chapter of the American Youth for Democracy, which has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

Sheet
According to a publication of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, United States House of Representatives, entitled "Investigation of Communist Activities, New York Area - Part 5 (Summer Camps)," Herbert George Gutman on July 20, 1950, gave testimony as reflected on Pages 1394 through 1400 of this publication. Gutman, according to this publication, took the privilege of several constitutional amendments, including the Fifth. Gutman was questioned during the hearing regarding all of the points which had previously been reported by Stanley Weckin, a self-admitted former member of the Labor Youth League, which has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450. Gutman claimed constitutional privilege when questioned regarding:

- (1) His activities at Camp Kinderland
- (2) His telephone call in 1948 to the parents of Stanley Weckin urging them to permit Stanley to attend the Jefferson School of Social Science, which has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450
- (3) His own attendance at the Jefferson School
- (4) The singing of Communist songs at Camp Kinderland

While at the University of Wisconsin from 1930 to 1933, Herbert Gutman and his wife, Judith, while remaining friendly with individuals active in the University of Wisconsin Chapter of the Labor Youth League, avoided open attendance at meetings of this group. The reason for their discreetness with regard to their activities and statements in public was that they had to protect their connections with the University of Wisconsin faculty.

TO : SAC (100-18396) ~~CONFIDENTIAL~~ DATE: 5/14/65

FROM : b7c SA [REDACTED] (C)

SUBJECT: HERBERT GEORGE GUTMAN
SM-C

On 5/13/65, the subject's residence and employment were verified. Since he is a Reserve Index A Subject and since his residence has changed in the past year an FD-122A has been prepared so that the Bureau's records will be accurate.

b1 GUTMAN, an Associate Professor of History at SUNYAB, has not come to the attention of any of our sources at that school.

b2 Similar negative information was furnished on 5/12 by [REDACTED] (C) A review of this file does not reveal reason which would justify a reinterview attempt or indicate that GUTMAN should be considered for PSI development. He should continue to be carried in Section A of the Reserve Index because of his 1949 CP membership, his teaching position and also because of past hostility to the FBI and the HCUA.

* It is recommended that this case be closed and that a tickler be set to insure that it is reopened 4/1/66.

SOCIALIST SCHOLARS CONFERENCE

[REDACTED] b2
[REDACTED] b7d

An article appearing in the "Daily Home News", a paper published daily and Sunday at New Brunswick, New Jersey, in the September 5, 1968, edition, is captioned, "Genovese Returns To Rutgers For Socialist Session". The article is as follows:

"Eugene Genovese, the former Rutgers University history professor whose name became a household word during the 1965 gubernatorial race because of his outspoken views on the war in Vietnam, will return to Rutgers this weekend for the first time in more than a year to attend the fourth annual Socialist Scholars Conference.

"The three-day conference will explore the general topic of "The Socialist Perspective in the Advanced Countries" through a series of topical commentaries followed by group discussions.

"The conference will bring together some of the brighter liberal arts' luminaries to discuss a subject which has, in recent years, become a more popular field of investigation among scholars after nearly 30 years of neglect in this country.

"Speaks Saturday

"Genovese will join Sterling Stuckey of Northwestern University on Saturday at 10 a.m. in a discussion of Harold Cruses' book, "The Crisis of the Negro Intellectual," a work which deals with, among other things, the 20th century black radical antecedents of the present day "black power" movement.

"At the same time that Genovese's topic of "Black Power and Socialism" is being discussed, Ernest Mandel, editor of the Belgian socialist weekly, "La Gauche," will address another group on "The Working Class and Neo-Capitalism."

"Tomorrow's opening session at 10:30 a.m. will be devoted to a conference on the "Role of Intellectuals in Social Change," with Warren Susman, a history professor at Rutgers, and Christopher Lasch of Northwestern as the major commentators. The opening session will be chaired by Connor Cruise O'Brien, whose recent book, "U.N.: Sacred Drama," has received high praise from a wide cross section of critics.

"Herbert Gutman, chairman of the history department at the University of Rochester, and Melvyn Dubofsky, of the University of Massachusetts, will speak at the same time tomorrow on "New Thoughts on the Historiography of the American Working Class".

"Commentators on this discussion will be Philip Foner of Lincoln University, an authority on the International Workers of the World, a labor movement in this country at the beginning of the century, and Stephen Thernstrom of Brandeis University.

"Panel on Sunday

"Mandel will be the guest speaker at an evening session tomorrow, while Sunday will be devoted to a panel on "The Preconditions for a Mass Socialist Party in the United States," chaired by James Weinstein, the author of a highly-acclaimed recent work on the early years of socialism in the United States.

SOCIALIST SCHOLARS CONFERENCE

"Ann Lane of Douglass College will also take part in the discussion, while Gar Alperovitz of M.I.T., Michael Greenberg of Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute and Geoff White of Berkeley will serve as commentators.

"The main thrust of the conference will be focused on the failures and successes of socialism as a viable political alternative in this country. Both Weinstein's and Cruse's recent works on socialism and the Negro respectively have centered on the split in the Socialist party in America following the Bolshevik Revolution in Russia at the end of World War I and the concomitant failure to socialism to link up with a blossoming black radical movement at the same time.

"Split Developed

"The split among the Socialists who favored the "hard line" approach and those of the "moderate line" who wished to maintain the identity of socialism as opposed to Bolshevism proved disastrous to the formation of a truly "radical" alternative in the United States, in the view of many observers.

"And amidst the turmoil of new political movements of all stripes, it is the question of the formation of a "radical" alternative which will probably be the foremost concern of the delegates.

"The sessions will be held in three buildings: the Rutgers Labor Education Center, Blake Hall on the Douglass campus, and Records Hall on the Rutgers campus."

An article appearing in the "Sunday Star Ledger," published at Newark, New Jersey, in the September 8, 1968, edition, is captioned, Prof. Genovese Talks at Rutgers". The article contains the following information:

SOCIALIST SCHOLARS CONFERENCE

"Controversial former Rutgers University professor Eugene Genovese yesterday urged the Black Power movement to line up behind wars of national liberation in the Asian, African and South American undeveloped areas.

"Otherwise, Genovese warned, the black militant leadership might be tempted to make a deal to support suppression of these revolts in return for improvement of their lot at home.

"The Marxist scholar hit the headlines during the 1965 gubernatorial race.

"Views On Viet"

"He ignited an otherwise dull campaign by saying at a campus teach-in that he would welcome a victory by the National Liberation Front in Vietnam. He later explained he meant a political, not a military victory.

"State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr., Republican candidate for governor in 1965 against Gov. Richard J. Hughes, denounced Genovese's teach-in remark and called for his immediate ouster from Rutgers.

"Hughes, a Democrat, refused to intervene and defended Genovese's right to speak in the interest of academic freedom, whatever his views.

"Genovese, who resigned from the university in March 1967 to accept a post at Sir George Williams University in Montreal, spoke at the fourth annual Socialist Scholars Conference held at Rutgers.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

SOCIALIST SCHOLARS CONFERENCE

"Panel Member

"He was a member of a panel which probed Harold Cruse's book, "The Crisis of the Negro Intellectual." Genovese and Cruse were joined in their discussion by Northwestern University professor Sterling Stuckey. Stuckey and Cruse are Negroes.

"Genovese said, "A black party would not automatically be anti-imperialistic."

"He also said if Black Power advocates must exclude the white left from their ghetto activities, they also should bar the federal poverty program, Richard Nixon's concept of black capitalism and the Republican and Democratic politicians in general.

"Anti-Romantic

"Genovese advised the white left to stop romanticizing about a classic merger of their effort with the black militants.

"Without a Power base of our own, we have nothing to bring an alliance with the blacks and therefore there will be no alliance.

"Everything depends on our ability to build our own party and movement. No fights of fancy over black militancy will save us. We shall have to save ourselves," he concluded."

"The Marxist professor stopped short of insisting that Black Power must be Marxian, but said it must have a "commitment to national and international responsibilities" of supporting revolution in the third world.

"His outlook was in sharp contrast to that of Harold Cruse, another panelist, whose new book, "The Crisis of the Negro Intellectual," formed the basis of the panel. About 300 persons attended.

"Cruse's book is, among other things, a bitter assault on the white Left of the past for imposing "a foreign ideology" on radical blacks unrelated to the real demands and needs of black people.

"Genovese responded that Cruse's quarrel is not with Marxism but with "the superficial and opportunist vulgar Marxism of the Communist Party and some other sects."

"Neo-colonialism - an expression popularized by Kwame Nkrumah expressing the view that the political apparatus of a former colony is turned over to elements willing to support a favorable climate for foreign economic domination - suggest that capitalism "has room to maneuver" with Black Power, Genovese said, "and that even now a generation of black opportunists and reactionary right-wing nationalists is waiting in the wings."

"A black party would not automatically be anti-imperialist," he said. "It might well make a deal for local privileges in return for its support of a worldwide imperialist offensive.

"Without a clear line from the beginning - without a definite commitment to national and international responsibilities - such a party could easily be the vehicle for co-opting black America into support for even a racist foreign policy.

SOCIALIST SCHOLARS CONFERENCE

"We have ample precedent to warn us. I do not have to tell Cruse that such an outcome would be a disaster for his people, for the United States and for the World."

"Playing To The Right

"Cruse's call to exclude the white left from black areas, the professor said, plays into the hands of the Right. If the object is to defend black autonomy, he contended, "the poverty program, Nixon's black capitalism, and the Democratic and Republican parties" should also be excluded.

"In his reply, Cruse denied being anti-Marxist. He asked, getting a laugh from the audience, "Who am I to attack one of the great minds of the 19th century?"

"Cruse said his quarrel is with "practioners of Marxism," particularly the Communist Party, which still have not allowed self-determination to blacks.

"At bottom, Cruse said, "the ideology of black nationalism is capitalistic" because blacks know nothing of socialism and "are after more of what capitalism has in abundance."

"This formulation is misleading, said another panelist, Sterling Stuckey of Northwestern University, because it implies that blacks understand the workings of capitalism. He said there was nothing incongruous with a socialist program that demands more food and more income.

"Though in apparent disagreement on socialism, Cruse and Genovese exhibited a meeting of the minds on the central importance of cultural questions as an aspect of social struggle. Both agree that the left in the past has relegated cultural questions to second rank.

SOCIALIST SCHOLARS CONFERENCE

"Genovese noted that this concern, which he called a permanent contribution of Cruse's book, is also present in the works of Antonio Gramsci, the late Italian Communist leader whose writings are becoming influential. Marxists themselves, he said, have been driving "perversions of Marxism" to which Cruse objects out of the philosophy.

"Revolutionary Mystique

"Since early in the century, Cruse said, Marxists have evaded the question of revolutionary as opposed to evolutionary means to socialism. The Left perpetuates "a revolutionary mystique", he said, while it fights for reforms within the system, as characterized in the New Deal experience.

"The same kind of dilemma has emerged with black revolutionaries, he said, who shout that "you can't trust Whitey, the federal government, the state government or the power structure" and then take jobs in anti-poverty agencies. To deal with this question, he said, requires a new conception of society and a new set of tactics.

"Genovese said that the white Left has been prone to fantasize about black movement while failing to get itself together.

"Without a power of our own," he said, "we have nothing to bring to an alliance with the blacks, and therefore there will be no alliance. Everything depends on our ability to build our own party and movement. No fights of fancy over black militancy will save us - we shall have to save ourselves."

"The possibility of creating a mass socialist party in the United States is the subject of the final conference panel, to be held today. Theme for the weekend has been, "The Socialist Perspective in the Advanced Countries."

SOCIALIST SCHOLARS CONFERENCE

An article appearing in the "Daily Home News" edition of September 9, 1968, by staff writer Warren Sloat of the "Home News" describes the session held on September 8, 1968, at the Socialist Scholars Conference, which session was under the topic, "The Preconditions for a Mass Socialist Party in the United States." The article is as follows:

New Left Remains Flexible

By WARREN SLOAT
Home News Staff Writer

The speaker was discussing organizing people for local control, opposition to the growing menace of federal power and a campaign against income taxes. You might think you had wandered into a meeting of college conservatives.

If so, you would be wrong. It was the fourth annual Socialist Scholars Conference, held over the weekend at Rutgers University. The kind of issues with which the conference dealt indicated that the "New Left" is rising to influence decisively the course of leftist scholarship and theory in the United States.

Despite occasional bursts of anti-intellectualism, the New Left — a multi-colored but definable grouping — is developing an intellectual wing.

Reject Dogma

One of the consequences is a rejection of doctrinaire, dogmatic Marxism and the sectarian quarreling that dominated radical politics of the past in the Communist and Trotskyite varieties.

For a political man, scholarship is not a diversion but a tool. The concluding seminar yesterday at Records Hall, for example, dealt with the development of theory and research to help produce a new socialist party in the U.S.

In contrast to leftist politics of the past, which has stressed the means of taking power, the seminar concentrated on developing a model of a post-industrial socialist society as an essential element of party organizing.

James Weinstein, author of "The Decline of Socialism in America, 1912-1925," contended that without this vision a mass following cannot be won. Intellectuals, he said, must address themselves to the task, since the model will not develop spontaneously in the populace.

Weinstein said the constituency of the party would be black people, students, the traditional working-class proletariat and the "new working class" — the technocrats, administrators, teachers and office workers of the country.

Mutual Discontent

These groupings are allied in their discontent ("and in little else," one critic pointed out), Weinstein said, but mere discontent is devoid of socialist content.

In the working class, it becomes manifest in support of George Wallace for President. The alienated young exhibit it but leave themselves open to the charge that they offer no alternative to the present system, he said.

setts Institute of Technology raised the issues of local control to which conservatives have addressed themselves in the recent past.

"We find it easy to talk to people," he said of experiences in the Cambridge community, in discussing issues of neighborhood organization, worker control of plants, the use of surplus for social needs and eliminating income taxes for people making less than $10,000 a year.

Alperowitz, whose book, "Atomic Diplomacy: Hiroshima and Potsdam," is an important work in present discussion about Cold War origins, said research is being made on "micro-social-centralization—a favorite issue of the New Left—relate to Weinstein's view of bureaucracy and centralized power as a concomitant of accumulation.

Socialist revolutions of the past have occurred in pre-industrial societies, leaving the state apparatus with the historical task of the bourgeoisie — accumulating capital — he reasoned. In a post-scarcity society — which he contended the U.S. is — such bureaucracy is unnecessary.

Issue Warnings

Alperowitz's remarks about building bridges to the community and other reminders of the socialist's role in society set the conference apart from a meeting of scholarly technicians. Another theme of the weekend was repeated warnings to avoid building a movement solely around "confrontation politics" and resistance, which Weinstein characterized as defensive and conservative tendencies.

Old Left panelists, abundant at last year's conference, were conspicuously absent, and criticism of the Soviet Union was thorough. At the same time there was a sense of historical perspective about the Old Left, as though the battle is over, with none of the scorn that the New Left once heaped on their spiritual — and sometimes natural — fathers.

Also absent was the "Democratic Left," with its interminable discussion of the Freedom Budget. Michael Harrington and Irving Howe, who were panelists last year, were nowhere to be found, nor were social democrat tendencies.

Participants — both audience and panelists — were generally younger, some of them only a few years out of college. For example, one panelist in yesterday's conference, Michael Greenberg, was formerly an organizer of Community Action Projects (CAP) in New Brunswick and now teaches American history at Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute.

The weekend participants, which numbered about 500 persons, was one-third the size of the crowd that jammed the New York Hilton last year. In his introductory remarks Friday, John Cammett, a former history professor at Rutgers, said the smaller crowd was deliberate.

"There was a tendency for the conference to become a left-wing happening," one participant said privately. The panel on hippies and radical youth last year was particularly unscholarly, including a monologue by Abbie Hoffman, the Yippie spokesman, and some biting comments from Greg Calvert of Students for a Democratic Society, who characterized the organizers as a junior version of the American Historical Association.

Last year's conference ranged from the relation of Catholicism and socialism, to Shakespeare to anthropological studies of peasants, as well as the hippie panel.

Cammett noted in his remarks that the panels were cut from 20 to five, with time for small discussion groups. For the first time, a dominant theme was chosen, "The Socialist Perspective in the Advanced Countries," and the panels organically related.

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

Friday's panel on the social role of the intellectual, for example, found Christopher Lasch of Northwestern University arguing that the intellectual must defend the primacy of culture against claims that it must serve a propaganda purpose. Lasch's comments would have enraged Leftists of the 1930s.

Lasch drew a connection between the lack of a radical movement in the U.S. and the immaturity of American culture. American culture, he said, lacks tragedy and a sense of history because its prevailing myth has been success and the victims of this success — Indians and black slaves — are disregarded as irrelevant.

Stress Culture

The insistence on culture as coequal with economic and political questions emerged again on the following day. Though Harold Cruse, author of "The Crisis of the Negro Intellectual," and Eugene Genovese disagreed on a number of issues, they were together on the centrality of culture.

Cruse contends that the only vital American culture was contributed by blacks and stolen by the whites. Genovese and Cammett have championed Antonio Gramsci, the late Italian Communist leader whose views on culture run counter to "socialist realism" and "proletarian art." Cammett has written a book on Gramsci, whose works are for the most part untranslated to English. And Genovese's concluding remarks on the need of the white left to organize a party led naturally into yesterday's session.

The Detonators

A Report on the Fourth Conference of Socialist Scholars

The accompanying article is an excerpt from the September 13 issue of U.S.A., a bi-weekly published by Alice Widener, nationally syndicated columnist and authority on the so-called Left, Old and New.

WITH militant young radicals wearing blue armbands marked "SSC," and guarding locked meeting room doors, the Socialist Scholars, revolutionary Marxist brain trust in U.S. institutions of higher learning, held their Fourth Annual Conference over the weekend of September 6-8, at Rutgers University, in New Jersey.

Guest of honor was Ernest Mandel of Brussels, editor of the Belgian socialist weekly "La Gauche" (The Left), and a main instigator of the student riots and workers' strikes in France during last May and June. Now banned from that country, Mandel made his welcome way into our own via Paris-Havana-Brussels. He was formally introduced to the Socialist Scholars by Paul Sweezy, editor of the leftist radical Monthly Review, who said: "Ernest Mandel is one of the most eminent and important Marxist theorists in Europe today. He spent considerable time last summer in Cuba. He was active in events which took place in France last spring and is banned by the French Government for his part in those events. We're all hoping he will go back to France and take part in events developing there now."

It is a pity that Mandel's speech at dinner in Nielsen Dining Hall, Rutgers, on Friday evening, September 6th, was not broadcast to the American public. He speaks excellent English and received a standing ovation from the Socialist Scholars and their guests, busloads of radical youths from New York City and other centers. Had the public heard what Mandel said, statistics in an opinion poll of approval or disapproval for security and riot control action taken during the recent Democratic National Convention would rise to 99.9% in favor of Mayor Daley and the Chicago police. Moreover, if TV networks had featured Mandel's speech, there would be no more confusion among loyal Americans about the revolutionary leadership of violent student rebellions and "peace" demonstrations.

"Students," explained Ernest Mandel, "are the detonators in the formula for triggering off a social explosion creating a revolutionary situation." To resounding applause, he made clear how he and other socialists use Marxism-Leninism as the device for timing, controlling and targeting the explosion. Mandel said the main strategy for overthrowing neo-capitalism in advanced industrial nations today including the U.S., is "to put forth, through mass strikes and mass movements, concrete demands and goals which are unacceptable to the capitalist system and cannot be granted within the capitalist system."

Mandel went on to say that the May-June rebellion in France this year failed temporarily "only because of lack of a revolutionary organization which, at the decisive moment, could counterpose new centralized workers' power to existing capitalist power."

In his speech, Ernest Mandel said that French workers' affinity for Marxism determined their actions last spring, not working conditions or pay. "The remarkable thing," he explained, "was that the rebellion against neo-capitalism took place despite the fact that French per capita consumption is the highest in Western Europe except for Sweden." He said many facts showed the French workers "were starting a revolution." Among these, he noted, was the complete cut-off of the cities of Nantes and Caen from communication, and the establishment of "a workers' state which started to issue its own currency — bons de credits — which were accepted by the storekeepers." He admitted, parenthetically, that after the Gaullist Government "repression," the storekeepers lost their money.

Another significant fact, said Mandel, was that St. Nazaire shipyard workers had called for "a General Assembly (Assemblée Generale)," as in the French revolution of 1848. (At Columbia University this month, Students for a Democratic Society, which sparked the rebellion last April, called for a "General Assembly.")

Mandel said the St. Nazaire workers entered into a dialogue with the authorities that lasted for more than a week, but "refused to make any precise demands within the framework of the capitalist system." He said the only reason the Marxist revolution failed in France last spring was that the mass of workers made demands — such as the 10% wage increase — which could be granted. Had there been "nuclei of revolutionary workers in the factories, in the key industries to take decisive control at the propitious moment," he said, "the workers would have been able to set up a dual government within France and topple the capitalist state by protracted revolutionary class struggle."

The three key issues on which Marxists must make their stand, said Mandel, the issues on which capitalists cannot compromise without forfeiting capitalism, are: (1) workers' control; (2) workers' "self-defense" (meaning armed might); and (3) government by workers' councils, instead of bourgeois power. "Never," cried Mandel dramatically, "never, I assure you, were Frenchmen so free, so truly free, as in the days of May-June!"

Shouts of approval came from the long-haired, bearded youths in Neilsen Dining Hall, many of whose faces had stared out of front-page news photos during the demonstrations at the Pentagon and Columbia University, at draft-card burnings and in street actions, and in attacks on the Chicago police during the Democratic National Convention in August. Members of the Old Left attending the dinner — Corliss Lamont, Russ Nixon, Harry Magdoff et al — were equally enthusiastic.

When the applause died down, Ernest Mandel quoted a statement by James M. Roche, president of General Motors, published in a news weekly, September 30, 1967: "We live in a world of change. We work in a world of change." Smiling sarcastically, Mandel paused a moment to look around the dining hall at the Socialist Scholars, then moved to the climax of his speech. "It may seem strange that I would agree on anything with such a person," he said, "but I would accept that statement and amend it a little bit." Slowly and with utmost emphasis, he said that "there is a possibility that the very society will change."

Applauding loudly, the Socialist Scholars rose to pay homage to the speaker. Certainly, if they and their associates have their way, American society will be so changed that private enterprise cannot exist. The tenet of the entire week-end conference at Rutgers was that after a social explosion has been detonated in the U.S., only a revolutionary organization, directed by socialists adhering to an advance Marxist-Leninist plan, can exercise decisive leadership. They believe it is the function of socialist scholars to formulate the plan and adapt it to given conditions while adhering to basic Marxist-Leninist strategy.

The official Socialist Scholars program for the Rutgers conference listed the following topics for discussion: "The Role of the Intellectuals in Social Change; New Thoughts on the Historiography of the American Working Class; The Working Class and Neo-Capitalism; Black Power and Socialism; The Preconditions for a Mass Socialist Party in the United States."

Participants came from universities across our nation and from abroad. Panel discussion leaders included: Warren Susman, Rutgers University; Christopher Lasch, Northwestern University; Herbert Gutman, University of Rochester; Melvyn Dubofsky, University of Massachusetts, Amherst; Philip Foner, Lincoln University; Alexander Erlich, Columbia University; Eugene D. Genovese, Sir George William University, Montreal; Sterling Stuckey, Northwestern University; Alphonse Pinckney, Hunter College; Harold Cruse, author of "The Crisis of the Negro Intellectual"; Ann Lane, Douglass College; Gar Alperovitz, MIT; Michael Greenberg, Polytechnical Institute of Brooklyn; Geoff White, Berkeley.

(Programmed but unable to attend were Conor Cruise O'Brien of New York University, who conducted "liberation" classes for rebel students at Columbia, and Louis Salkever of State University of New York, Albany.)

At the Friday morning session on the role of the intellectual; Christopher Lasch said, "The emergence of a mature American culture depends on the emergence of revolutionary change." He added: "The responsibility of the intellectual is the same as that of the street organizer." Intellectual leadership, he explained, can come only from intellectuals having confidence in themselves "as a class." He said, "American intellectuals have been mostly amateurs ignorant of their craft, and their failure is due to the absence of revolutionary structure."

Prof. Eugene D. Genovese, now teaching in Canada, but formerly of Rutgers (where, in 1965, he proclaimed "I would welcome a Viet Cong victory"), was persona grata and seemed very sure of what he was doing. He discussed "Black Power and Socialism," criticized some aspects of Harold Cruse's book, "The Crisis of the Negro Intellectual," but said the author's "ideological manifesto wiped out decades of ideological drivel." Genovese attacked American society for using "the same terrorist methods against black nationalism that the Zionist bund uses," and said, "White America must be restructured if Black America is to be free."

(Genovese used the exact terminology of the uncensored edition of Joseph Stalin's, "Marxism and the National and Colonial Question," which contains two chapters on Zionism as "a Fascist bund movement." To Leninist-Stalinists, all nationalist movements are "fascist" except those directed by Communists and set up for the sole purpose of leading a nation or minority group into absorption by the Communist bloc. Khrushchev denounced Stalin but affirmed Kremlin adherence to Marxism-Leninism-Stalinism. The present Soviet regime, led by Kosygin and Brezhnev, sticks rigidly to that ideology, as does Gomulka of Poland. The Communist attitude toward Zionism has nothing to do with pro- or anti-Zionism; the attitude solely concerns orthodox Marxism-Leninism-Stalinism on the national and colonial question.)

Eugene Genovese stated at the Socialist Scholars panel on Black Power that there can be no successful "black enclave economy" in the United States. He maintains that only in a worldwide radical Marxist economy can there be an end to racist exploitation.

The establishment of such an economy was the theme of the entire Socialist Scholars Conference. The aim — as Warren Susman put it — is "to formulate a revolutionary plan for the future which will remove the power of past traditions and create a Socialist America."

On Saturday morning, Professor Alexander Erlich of Columbia University, who last June delivered the "anti-commencement" address to rebel student walk-outs from the official exercises, shared the Socialist Scholars platform at Rutgers with guest-of-honor Ernest Mandel to discuss "The Working Class and Neo-Capitalism." Prof. Erlich was introduced to the audience by John Cammett of Rutgers, 1967-68 president of the Socialist Scholars, who said about Prof. Erlich, "He is a member of the Russian Institute at Columbia and one of the very few professors to take a constructive role in the student events there."

Erlich speaks English with such a heavy accent it was difficult to hear what he said. The poor acoustics in Blake Hall, a depressing, cheaply built cement-cell edifice, worsened Erlich's diction. But his views were plain as he nodded in agreement when Ernest Mandel said, "The student revolt can become the vanguard of the working class."

An extremely important part of the Socialist Scholars Conference was the book exhibit at the Rutgers Labor Education Center, where most of the meetings and activities took place. According to a Frenchwoman selling photographs at $10 apiece of the May-June students' revolt in Paris, the troubles in France will begin again this month. A Parisian school teacher, she was in charge of a literature table heaped with copies of "L'Enrage," a vile publication in unprintable four letter words translated into English for students at Berkeley by Ruth Porter of Merit Publishers in New York City, an outfit run by the Socialist Workers Party in our country. The Frenchwoman said much of the translation from French into English was done over the trans-Atlantic telephone between Paris and New York City; student support from America "was a big help to us." . . .

CONFIDENTIAL

At the opening of the Fourth Annual Conference of Socialist Scholars at Rutgers University, September 6, the radical group's president, John Cammett, said, "We decided previous conferences were too large and not carefully enough organized." He explained the Fourth Conference had been narrowed down so that it would not "dampen discussion with people of more or less similar ideas," and said sessions could thus "be more organically related."

It seems plain that the Socialist Scholars are organically related to all Marxist revolutionary groups in this country and abroad. At their conference this month, it grew clear that they and their associates believe "phase one" of their operations in the United States has been successfully completed and that they are entering on "phase two."

Phase one included revolutionary propaganda and activity to promote the demonstration at the Pentagon last October, the rebellion at Columbia University last April, "the abdication" (as they call it) of President Johnson, and the mass demonstrations during the Democratic National Convention in Chicago last month. During phase one, Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), acting in concert with David Dellinger and other self-proclaimed Communists, played a principal role.

In phase two of the Marxist brain trust operations, action will grow more disciplined and sophisticated. Students for a Democratic Society is slated to be taken out of undergraduate leadership, molded into the "Movement for a Democratic Society (MDS)" and meshed closely with the international Marxist-Leninist apparatus. Guided by members and affiliates of the Socialist Scholars, the new MDS and Youth International Party (Yippies, many of whom were at Rutgers wearing SSC armbands, including young American draft evaders now living in Canada) will be used as "detonators." In this country, the SDS-initiated Radical Education Project and North American Congress for Latin America will be used in intelligence and espionage operations.

The near-future goal of the Socialist Scholars was ably set forth in the Guardian, independent radical news weekly, August 24, 1968, by Irving Beinin, who was present at their conference at Rutgers. "Disruption is not a program, and sometimes it can be a cover for lack of a program. Yet this year, without an effective alternative, disruption seems to be the most creative thing to do for the left in most of the country. But beyond disruption, it is also a time for putting together the scattered forces of radical opposition, for building a viable left which is capable of inspiring the confidence that it can develop a real alternative and a real challenge to U.S. capitalist state power."

Between-sessions and corridor conversations at the Socialist Scholars Conference disclosed that most of the participants and their youthful adherents, "the detonators," believe they can continue operations unharassed if Hubert H. Humphrey is elected in November, but will be "repressed" — to use the Socialists' term — if Richard M. Nixon wins.

Whoever wins, the Socialist Scholars intend to continue their Marxist-Leninist revolutionary struggle at home and abroad, acting as a fuse to human detonators to set off social explosions.

The July 5, 1968, issue of the "Militant" carried an article entitled, "Revolutionary Youth Advancing in Europe". This article stated the "ideas which have arrested the minds of the young militants of Europe come not only from Trotsky's texts"... but..."they come from left-wing writers of many leanings", one of the left-wing writers mentioned was "the Belgian political theorist Ernest Mandel."

A characterization of the "Militant" is attached hereto.

The Summer, 1964, "International Socialist Review" on Page 80, carries an article captioned, "Defend the Cuban Revolution" by Ernest Mandel. Mandel was described in a footnote of this article as the editor of the Belgian Socialist weekly, "La Gauche" and author of "Traite Editions" and "Economie Marxiste", a two volume edition of the major Marxist work on present day economic developments. He spent several months in Cuba recently as a part of the delegation from the Belgian Labor Movement.

INTERNATIONAL SOCIALIST REVIEW

The November 27, 1961, issue of "The Militant", a weekly newspaper of the Socialist Workers Party (SWP) described the "International Socialist Review" as a "magazine reflecting the viewpoint of the SWP".

The May-June, 1968, issue of the "International Socialist Review" identified this magazine as a bi-monthly publication located at 873 Broadway, New York, New York.

The SWP has been designated pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

PROGRESSIVE LABOR PARTY

[REDACTED]

"The New York Times," City Edition, Tuesday, April 20, 1965, page 27, reported that a new party of "revolutionary Socialism" was formally founded on April 13, 1965, under the name of the PLP. The PLP was described as an outgrowth of the PLM. Its officers were identified as Hilton Rosen, New York, President, and William Epton of New York and Mort Scheer of San Francisco, Vice Presidents. A 20-member National Committee was elected to direct the Party until the next convention.

According to the article, "The Progressive Labor Movement was founded in 1962 by Mr. Rosen and Mr. Scheer after they were expelled from the Communist Party, USA, for assertedly following the Chinese Communist line."

The PLP publishes "Progressive Labor," a bimonthly magazine; "Challenge," a monthly New York City newspaper; and "Spark," a west coast newspaper.

The April, 1967, issue of "Challenge," page 14, states that "This paper is dedicated to fight for a new way of life—where the working men and women own and control their homes, factories, the police, courts, and the entire government of every level."

STUDENTS FOR A DEMOCRATIC SOCIETY

The Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), as it is known today, came into being at a founding convention held at Port Huron, Michigan, in June, 1962. The SDS is an association of young people on the left and has a current program of protesting the draft, promoting a campaign for youth to develop conscientious objector status, denouncing United States intervention in the war in Vietnam and to "radically transform" the university community, and provide for its complete control by students. Gus Hall, General Secretary, Communist Party, USA, when interviewed by a representative of United Press International in San Francisco, California, on May 14, 1965, described the SDS as a part of the "responsible left" which the Party has "going for us." At the June, 1965, SDS National Convention, an anti-communist proviso was removed from the SDS constitution. In the October 7, 1966, issue of "New Left Notes," the official publication of SDS, an SDS spokesman stated that there are some communists in SDS and they are welcome. The national headquarters of this organization as of April 18, 1967, was located in Room 206, 1608 West Madison Street, Chicago, Illinois.

STUDIES ON THE LEFT, INC.
Also Known As
STUDIES ON THE LEFT (SOTL)

The "Wisconsin State Journal," a daily newspaper published at Madison, Wisconsin, on November 26, 1959, announced that a new scholarly magazine, "Studies on the Left," (SOTL) a historical review dedicated to the leftist point of view, edited by present and former graduate students at the University of Wisconsin (UW), but having no connection with the UW itself, would begin publication soon.

Records of the Wisconsin Secretary of State reflect SOTL was incorporated under law of Wisconsin July 16, 1959, as a non-stock, non-profit corporation with headquarters P.O. Box 2121, Madison, Wisconsin. The first issue contained a policy statement from the editors stating SOTL was primarily a magazine for national circulation designed to give younger men with radical views a place to voice their opinions.

Volume Number 3, Number 2 issue of SOTL, published in February, 1963, contained an announcement that effective March 1, 1963, the new mailing address of SOTL would be "Studies on the Left, " Box 33, Planetarium Station, New York 24, New York.

CONFIDENTIAL

According to a publication of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, United States House of Representatives, entitled "Investigation of Communist Activities, New York Area - Part 5 (Summer Camps)," HERBERT GEORGE GUTMAN, on July 29, 1955, gave testimony as reflected on Pages 1394 through 1400 of this publication. GUTMAN, according to this publication took the privilege of several constitutional amendments, including the Fifth. GUTMAN was questioned during the hearing regarding all of the points which had previously been reported by STANLEY WECHKIN, a self-admitted former member of the Labor Youth League, which has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450. GUTMAN claimed constitutional privilege when questioned regarding:

1. His activities at Camp Kinderland.
2. His telephone call in 1950, to the parents of STANLEY WECHKIN urging them to permit STANLEY to attend the Jefferson School of Social Science, which has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.
3. His own attendance at the Jefferson School.
4. The singing of Communist songs at Camp Kinderland.
5. Whether or not STANLEY WECHKIN had told the Committee anything that was not true, whether at any time GUTMAN was a member of the Communist Party and whether GUTMAN had any knowledge of the description of Camp Kinderland as having been approved by the Communist Party.

I. BACKGROUND

b7c SE [REDACTED] reviewed the birth records of the Department of Health, New York City, on February 16, 1953. These records reflect that the subject was born March 18, 1928, in New York City.

B. EDUCATION

The records of Queens College, New York City, were reviewed on February 6, 1953. These records reflected the following information.

The subject graduated from Queens College on June 22, 1949, with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in History. He entered that college in September of 1945, and graduated as an honor student, having been awarded the Student Council Service Award for his fine college record. He was the editor of the Queens College school newspaper, "The Crown", in 1948 and 1949. He attended the John Adams High School in Queens previous to entering Queens College.

b7c After the subject graduated from Queens College, he was recommended by the Dean of Students, [REDACTED] for admission into Harvard, Northwestern, and Columbia Universities. [REDACTED] recommended the subject very highly as to character, personality, and ability.

b2b7d The records of [REDACTED] another Government agency which maintains personnel-type records, reflect that the subject, from approximately 1950, until February 8, 1953, has been attending the University of Wisconsin at Madison, Wisconsin. These records also reflect that the subject is attempting to obtain a Doctor of Philosophy Degree in History at the University of Wisconsin, and expects this degree in June of 1953.

C. MARITAL STATUS

b7c On February 17, 1953, the marriage records of the Department of Health, Queens, New York, were reviewed by SE [REDACTED]. These records reflected the following information.

On June 18, 1950, the subject married JUDITH H. MARKOWITZ, whose family lived at 111-20 Farmers Boulevard, St. Albans, New York.

b7c Asst. to the Dir. L. B. Nichols telephonically contacted NYO, 12:30 P.M., 7/14/55, and, in my absence to lunch, spoke with [REDACTED]. Mr. Nichols stated he was interested in learning the current addresses of the above-captioned individuals, all of whom are associated with Communist summer camps. I checked the files and, at 2:30 P.M., 7/14/55, furnished the following information to Inspector Cartha D. De Leach, in the absence of Mr. Nichols. The information furnished is the following:-

HERBERT GEORGE GUTMAN (Bufile 100-391630)-- residence 1824 21st Ave., Astoria, Queens, Apt. 1B.

b7d A pretext telephone call on 7/14/55 verified the fact that GUTMAN was at his residence. [REDACTED]

GI Bares Red Indoctrination

By LEO LEVY and WILFRED ALEXANDER

A young Brooklyn GI told a legislative committee Monday that he was taught Communist songs at a boys' camp near Poughkeepsie in 1947-48, when he was 12 years old, joined in discussion on communism and two years later was recruited by a camp counselor into the Labor Youth League, successor to the disbanded Young Communist League.

PVT. STANLEY WECHKIN, stationed at Ft. Dix, held the spotlight as five witnesses appeared before the Joint Legislative Committee on Charitable and Philanthropic Organizations as it launched a hearing into an insidious Communist plot to poison the minds of America's children with Red doctrines taught in Summer camps.

The hearings, resulting from an expose several months ago by THE MIRROR and International News Service, opened in the Supreme Court Bldg., 60 Centre St., adjoining the Federal Courthouse, where 22 of 23 Broadway folks literally thumbed their noses at Congressional Investigators' attempts last week to expose Kremlin links with the stage, radio and TV.

Two of the witnesses, David Greene, of 183 E. 98th St., manager of Camp Kinderland, which Pvt. Wechkin attended, and also nearby Camp Lakeland, and Harry Sandler, an officer of the company that owns both camps, took double refuge behind the Federal and state Constitutions to avoid answering questions about communism.

YOUNG WECHKIN testified that mimeographed copies of the Soviet National Anthem, the Loyalist songs of the Spanish Civil War and Freiheit, a Communist number, were distributed to the boys and they sang them around the campfire.

The child campers were divided into discussion groups, named after Paul Robeson, Henry Wallace and Hungarian Communist Anna Pauker, the GI said, and were led in talks about such subjects as "Wall St. Imperialism" and "American exploitation of workers."

His counselor, Howard Guttman, who he said admitted openly to being a Communist, suggested while in camp the second year that he read "The Great Conspiracy," by Albert Kahn. Wechkin testified, and in 1950 got him to join the Labor Youth League and to study communism at the Jefferson School of Social Sciences.

HE TESTIFIED THAT while he was in camp, Peter Seeger, one of the actor-singers who pleaded the Fifth Amendment in

Tells of Camp Indoctrination

the Broadway probe, entertained there.

Former State Sen. Bernard Tompkins, committee counsel, said at the outset that the group has been probing communism in child camps since the MIRROR-INS exposure, and discovered that "these are not isolated camp incidents," but are "part of an overall plan of the international world Communist conspiracy."

"WE HAVE SWORN information that you are a member of the Communist Party," Tompkins told Greene, and invited him to publicly deny it.

The witness promptly pleaded the Fifth Amendment of the national Constitution and the Sixth Article of the State Constitution, both of which protect a person from testifying against himself.

State Sen. Edward Larkin, Nassau Republican and committee chairman, joined Tompkins in pressing Greene as to whether he was formerly a member of the defunct International Workers Order, that once sponsored the suspect camps, but the witness declined to answer.

HE ALSO PLEADED immunity to avoid saying whether he once taught at a Communist youth school, ran for public office on the Communist Party ticket, or was a delegate in 1948 to the Communist national convention in New York City.

Some light was thrown onto the dissolved IWO by two other witnesses, former State Insurance Superintendent Alfred J. Bohlinger and Jacob S. Landis, a translator in Bohlinger's office.

Bohlinger testified that the IWO was liquidated by order of Supreme Court Justice Henry Clay Greenberg in 1951 as being "Communist dominated." At that time, Bohlinger said, the supposedly "fraternal" organization had 150,000 members in 1,600 lodges across the country, possessed assets of $6,500,000, held mortgages on several Summer camps and sponsored many others.

THE FORMER STATE official asserted that the IWO was found at that time to be "directed and controlled by the Communist Party."

Landis introduced into evidence various documents gathered by the Insurance Department and instrumental in dissolving the IWO.

Greene refused time and again to say whether he ever was a member of that organization, or whether it or any other Red group dictated policy of his two camps, or had anything to do with hiring any of the 60 to 65 counselors hired at Camp Lakeland or Camp Kinderland.

TOMPKINS READ from two Communist documents, one published in Moscow and one here, which directed indoctrination of children with communism and urged infiltration of youth organizations in "bourgeois" countries.

The counsel asked Greene whether he wasn't a member of the Camp Committee of the national Communist Party. This ran into the Fifth Amendment.

It was the same answer when he asked if Ruben Salzman, chairman of that Communist activity, hadn't visited the two Poughkeepsie camps.

GREENE FREELY discussed the two vacation spots when it came to such data as their having 60 to 65 counselors, and accommodating from 800 to 900 children a season, about 325 at a time. But he clammed fast when communism or the IWO was mentioned.

Chairman Larkin said the purpose of the hearings is to focus the full light of public attention on "the sinister method of spreading subversive ideas by attempting to warp them into the minds of our children."

Children's Camp Probe On

GI Bares Red Indoctrination

By LEO LEVY and WILFRED ALEXANDER

A young Brooklyn GI told a legislative committee Monday that he was taught Communist songs at a boys' camp near Poughkeepsie in 1947-48, when he was 12 years old, joined in discussion on communism and two years later was recruited by a camp counselor into the Labor Youth League, successor to the disbanded Young Communist League.

PVT. STANLEY WECHKIN, stationed at Ft. Dix, held the spotlight as five witnesses appeared before the Joint Legislative Committee on Charitable and Philanthropic Organizations as it launched a hearing into an insidious Communist plot to poison the minds of America's children with Red doctrines taught in Summer camps.

The hearings, resulting from an expose several months ago by THE MIRROR and International News Service, opened in the Supreme Court Bldg., 60 Centre St., adjoining the Federal Courthouse, where 22 of 23 Broadway folks literally thumbed their noses at Congressional investigators' attempts last week to expose Kremlin links with the stage, radio and TV.

Two of the witnesses, David Greene, of 183 E. 98th St., manager of Camp Kinderland, which Pvt. Weckin attended, and also nearby Camp Lakeland, and Harry Sandler, an officer of the company that owns both camps, took double refuge behind the Federal and state Constitutions to avoid answering questions about communism.

YOUNG WECHKIN testified that mimeographed copies of the Soviet National Anthem, the Loyalist songs of the Spanish Civil War and Freiheit, a Communist number, were distributed to the boys and they sang them around the campfire.

The child campers were divided into discussion groups named after Paul Robeson, Henry Wallace and Hungarian Communist Anna Pauker, the GI said, and were led in talks about such subjects as "Wall St. Imperialism" and "American exploitation of workers."

His counselor, Howard Guttman, who he said admitted openly to being a Communist, suggested while in camp the second year that he read "The Great Conspiracy," by Albert Kahn. Weckin testified, and in 1950 got him to join the Labor Youth League and to study communism at the Jefferson School of Social Sciences.

HE TESTIFIED THAT while he was in camp, Peter Seegar, one of the actor-singers who pleaded the Fifth Amendment in the Broadway probe, entertained there.

Former State Sen. Bernard Tompkins, committee counsel, said at the outset that the group has been probing communism in child camps since the MIRROR-INS exposure, and discovered that "these are not isolated camp incidents," but are "part of an overall plan of the international world Communist conspiracy."

"WE HAVE SWORN information that you are a member of the Communist Party," Tompkins told Greene, and invited him to publicly deny it.

The witness promptly pleaded the Fifth Amendment of the national Constitution and the Sixth Article of the State Constitution, both of which protect a person from testifying against himself.

State Sen. Edward Larkin, Nassau Republican and committee chairman, joined Tompkins in pressing Greene as to whether he was formerly a member of the defunct International Workers Order, that once sponsored the suspect camps, but the witness declined to answer.

During the week of August 22-26, 1955, the Joint Legislative Committee to Study Charitable and Philanthropic Agencies and Organizations of the NY State Legislature held open hearings in the Supreme Court Building at Foley Square, NYC.

~~Captioned individual appeared before this Committee and either refused to testify, claimed constitutional privileges, or testified but was vague in his (her) answers.~~

This case should be brought up to date immediately with the submission of a current report. If a report recently has been submitted and if it is felt that an additional report is not needed at this time, the Bureau should be advised by letter of captioned individual's appearance before the Committee. Reference should be made to the recent report and a statement made that no report is being submitted at this time.

In the event there is no main case file on captioned individual or if no active investigation by the FBI has ever been conducted, the indices should be reviewed. If it is felt no investigation is warranted, the Bureau should be advised by letter of captioned individual's appearance before the Committee, along with a summary of the material available stating that the NYO does not feel that the facts warrant the institution of an investigation. However, if the facts warrant, an investigation should be initiated and a report submitted immediately.

An article in the 8/23/55 edition of the "New York Daily Mirror," pg 2, columns 4 and 5, reflected one PVT STANLEY WECHKIN, who was stationed at Ft. Dix, NJ, testified (on 8/22/55) before the New York State Joint Legislative Committee on Charitable and Philanthropic Organizations.

According to the article, WECHKIN testified he was taught Communist songs while attending Camp Kinderland, near Pt. Nevers, NY, in 1947-1948, when he was twelve years old. He further testified that two years later (1950) he was recruited into the Labor Youth League by the camp counselor, HOWARD GUTTMAN, who, he said, openly admitted to being a Communist.

WECHKIN said that during his second year in camp, GUTTMAN suggested he (WECHKIN) read "The Great Conspiracy," by ALBERT KAHN.

Newark is requested to contact [redacted] to determine if he can furnish further identifying information regarding GUTTMAN, such as past or present employment and residence, age, and general physical description.

This case is being reopened under the program of investigating all individuals included in the Communist Index in the NYO.

The following minimum investigative steps must be taken:

1. Review file and all pertinent references thoroughly.
2. Contact informants, sources and defected Communists who could be expected to know the subject. Contact for evidence of current activity and also for the sources' evaluation of potential dangerousness.
3. Determine residence and employment. Check against the key facilities and classified contractors lists to insure full and complete dissemination is made. Submit Form FD-128 if the subject has moved to a new field division.
4. If the subject has been a CP drop or ceased activity suddenly, develop information to show the reason. Many of these drops are purely on the basis of theoretical and intellectual differences. The convictions of the persons involved remain unchanged in their hard-core devotion to the principles of international Communism, waiting only for what they consider to be a more favorable climate within ruling Communist circles. It should also be borne in mind constantly that unexplained cessation of Communist activity by a subject may well be based upon a contemplated assignment in espionage or illegal underground activity.

5. Consider interview or reinterview without regard to prior interview results. Bear in mind the Khrushchev revelations of terror under Stalin, anti-Semitism in the Soviet Union and the Hungarian revolt.

6. Secure a current description.

These cases must be given expeditious attention since it will be our responsibility to fully handle the approximately 4232 cases on individuals included in the Communist Index.

Additional instructions relative to the handling of these cases will be immediately forthcoming. In the meantime the necessary investigative steps should be taken so that there will be no time lost in launching this program.

A surveillance was conducted during the early morning hours, on 3/19/59, by SAs [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] at subject's residence, apartment [REDACTED] Astoria, Queens, NY. The only individual observed entering or leaving subject's apartment, was a colored female who entered at about 8:50 a.m., using her own key.

A pretext telephone call was made at about 9:00 a.m., 3/19/59, by SA [REDACTED] to telephone number Ravenswood 1-4440, listed to [REDACTED] Astoria, Queens, NY, at which time an unidentified female stated she was the maid, that she did not know what time subject leaves home or returns home in the evening, that she did not know where to reach the subject, that she had no telephone number of her employment, but that subject's husband would be home around 9:30 a.m. or 10:00 a.m. this date. She refused to furnish any information.

Title: HERBERT GEORGE GUTMAN

Character: SECURITY MATTER - C

Synopsis:

STATE
DEPT.

Subject was issued a passport on 2/17/59 for proposed travel abroad on 6/15/59, of two and one-half months duration, in order to visit several countries in Europe, Africa and the Near East for the purpose of education and pleasure. Subject did not answer the questions in his passport application pertaining to present and past membership in the CP.

DETAILS: AT WASHINGTON, D. C.b7c
FBI
DEPT.

On May 27, 1959, Mrs. VERDE BUCKLER, Legal Section, Passport Office, Department of State, made available to SA [REDACTED] the passport file of HERBERT GEORGE GUTMAN. A review of the file disclosed the following information:

Passport number 1342458 was issued to HERBERT GEORGE GUTMAN on February 17, 1959. This passport was marked not valid for travel in the following areas under control of authorities with which the United States does not have diplomatic relations: Albania, Bulgaria and those portions of China, Korea and Viet-Nam under communist control.

This document contains neither recommendations nor conclusions of any kind. It is the property of the FBI, and is a loan to your agency; it and/or its contents are not to be distributed outside your agency.

On February 13, 1959, at New York, New York, GUTMAN executed an application for the above passport. In that application he stated he was born March 18, 1928, at New York, New York, and maintained permanent residence at 18-24 21st Avenue, Astoria, Queens, New York. He listed his father as JOSEPH GUTMAN, born July 5, 1899, in Poland, and his mother as ANNA ZAENTZ GUTMAN, born July 2, 1901, in Poland. He indicated that his parents were residing at 89-20 98th Street, Woodhaven, New York. Subject stated he was last married on June 18, 1950, to JUDITH MARKOWITZ GUTMAN, who was born on May 22, 1928, at Brooklyn, New York, and indicated that their marriage had not been terminated.

Regarding his travel plans, subject stated he intended to depart from the United States at the port of New York City on June 15, 1959, via air transportation, for a proposed length of stay abroad of two and one-half months in order to visit Portugal, Ghana, Nigeria, Sudan, Egypt, Syria, Turkey, USSR, Austria, Italy, France, Belgium and England for the purpose of education and pleasure.

STATE Subject did not answer the questions in the passport application asking: "Are you now a member of the Communist Party?" and "Have you ever been a member of the Communist Party?"

DEPT. It is noted that the United States Supreme Court ruled on June 16, 1958, in the case entitled "ROCKWELL KENT vs. JOHN FOSTER DULLES, Secretary of State," that under existing statutes governing travel the Secretary of State lacked the authority to withhold passports from individuals because of their membership in or association with the Communist Party.

On June 23, 1958, JAMES BROOKS, Legal Section, Passport Office, advised that the effect of the above Supreme Court ruling was that the Department of State could no longer require applicants for passports to answer the questions in the application pertaining to present and past membership in the Communist Party.

The Communist Party has been designated by the Attorney General of the United States pursuant to Executive Order 10450.

The following description of subject appeared in his passport application:

Height: 6'1"
Hair: Brown
Eyes: Hazel

Marks: Birthmark on face
Occupation: Teacher

REASONS FOR GRADUATE STUDY

My interest in graduate study revolves essentially around two main aspects: teaching at a college or university and doing historical research. Primarily I am interested in studying for a Master's and Doctorate with the immediate outlook of teaching at a higher institution. I am particularly interested in several periods in American social and political history—periods which I feel still need critical important and vital study as to their meaning and the factors involved in making them a part of the dynamic process called history. These two periods are: Progressivism (1896-1915) and the Abolitionist Movement in the North from 1820-1860. Both of these periods of history demand much careful study and ~~new~~ reevaluation as to their important contribution to the American democratic ~~idea~~ ^{process}.

In my under-graduate studies I have attempted to concentrate my efforts at understanding these two periods. In particular I have studied the Progressive Movement at the turn of the century and its implications, its causes, and the factors involved in making it meaningful to the student. My interest has centered around its historical roots in the ideals of both Jeffersonian and Jacksonian democracy; in showing how the Progressive Movement in its violent reaction to the gross materialism and social Darwinism of the late nineteenth century combined the philosophic and political implications of both Jeffersonian and Jacksonian democracy meeting their different tendencies and reapplying them to a new, complex industrial America. I have done, in this respect, several research papers evolving around this period and its meaning. One of these papers was a critical study of ~~the period~~ F. L. Dune

(If more space is needed, use other side of this sheet)

("Mr. Dooley") and how this brilliant we must in many ways mirrored the Progressive Movement and its various manifestations. Another study I prepared was on Walter Weyl and his work "The New Democracy" which in many ways is the philosophic expression of the reform nature of the American Progressivism. The paper attempted to ~~show~~ show the historical roots of Weyl's progressivism in nineteenth century America; and how Weyl applied his philosophic approach to the pressing political, social and economic problems of ~~that~~ times to show how Weyl's political philosophy and analysis was in many ways a brilliant searching for the meaning of American democracy and how he tried to reorient and direct American political action to strengthen and ~~foster~~ further American democracy in all its manifestations by democratic means. Another study I did was a short attempt to link Progressivism with Populism and show the historical roots of Progressivism growing out to a large degree from its immediate predecessor - Populism.

My interest in the Abolitionist Movement and its meaning stems primarily not from any course ~~taken~~ taken in undergraduate work, but rather from much reading done on the subject on my own. Particularly I am interested in Wendell Phillips and John Brown as individuals. Both of these men I feel merit much more careful study by American historians as to the actual roles they have played in shaping the Abolitionist Movement.

My work in history however has not been limited to American history alone. Study has been done in Ancient, Medieval, and Renaissance and Reformation Periods. Special study has been the "Age of Reason" and in the meaning of the Graeco-Roman tradition and Jewish-Christian tradition in shaping the force of Western Civilization. In this field I have done particular research in the writings of William Godewin who I feel, in many ways, culminates logically the "Age of Reason" and further research has been in the work of the Pre-Socratic scientists and their brilliant contribution to Western thought.

My background in many ways is scattered, but my picture remains two-fold: to teach at a recognized college university and to do individual research in either or Progressivism or the Abolitionist Movement.

UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT
MEMORANDUM

TO : SAC, NEW YORK

DATE: 10/18/60

FROM : Supervisor 423

SUBJECT: Herbert George Gutman 100-104018

This Reserve Index case is being reopened to conduct the following investigation:

1. Verify residence and employment.
2. Conduct an indices search and file review to determine whether investigation is warranted at this time or whether an interview with the individual is deemed desirable.
3. If additional investigation is conducted or if there is unreported information of a subversive nature contained in the files, a report must be submitted.

Designate for Section A of the Reserve Index those individuals whose subversive activities do not bring them within the Security Index criteria but who, in a time of national emergency, are in a position to influence others against the national interest or are likely to furnish material financial aid to subversive elements due to their subversive associations and ideologies.

Included in Section A will be those individuals falling within the following categories:

1. Professors, teachers and educators.
2. Labor union organizers or leaders.
3. Writers, lecturers, newsmen, entertainers and others in the mass media field.
4. Lawyers, doctors and scientists.
5. Other potentially influential persons on a local or national level.
6. Individuals who could potentially furnish material financial aid.

MEMO

Forms will be available to recommend the inclusion of the individual's name in Section A of the Reserve Index. These forms will contain a succinct summary, setting forth the basis for recommendation. If no report accompanies the recommendation, a statement to that effect should appear on the page containing the succinct summary. Investigations of individuals listed in Section A are to be brought up to date annually and they are to be considered for Security Index status or retention in the Reserve Index. Changes in residence and employment will be submitted to the Bureau.

The administrative handling of the reopening of these cases will be similar to that in the case of annual reports on SI subjects. Section B of the Reserve Index will be the names of the remaining individuals in the Reserve Index who are not in Section A.

The revised standards for inclusion of names in the Reserve Index are:

1. Membership in a basic revolutionary organization subsequent to January 1, 1949, together with some indication of sympathy or association with such an organization or a subversive front organization subsequent to the reported membership and no reliable evidence of defection.
2. Investigation has failed to substantiate allegations of membership in a revolutionary organization within the past five years, coupled with some evidence or information indicating activity, association or sympathy for the subversive cause within the same period, and no reliable evidence of defection.
3. The individual, within the past five years, by his associations, writings, financial support or conduct in relation to and support of subversive organizations or the international communist movement is in a position to influence others at the time of a national emergency and no reliable evidence of defection.
4. Leadership or substantial activities in a major subversive front group over three years ago, together with some evidence of continuing activity, association or sympathy for the subversive cause within three years and no reliable evidence of, defection.
5. Membership in a subversive front organization within the past three years and no reliable evidence of defection.

In handling this case the Agent should insure that the description appearing on the Reserve Index card is correct and should complete a form NY 125. Every closing memo, letter or report should be routed to the SI Unit with NY 125 attached.

b7d [REDACTED]

b7c On 2/26/63, SA [REDACTED] made a telephone call to Fairleigh Dickinson University, 1000 River Rd., Teaneck, N.J. without giving any identity and asked for the subject but after checking the telephone operator at the University said he and his secretary would not arrive in his office until about 9:00 AM.

A review of the indices and file concerning the subject revealed no unreported subversive activities pertaining to the subject.

FD 122 A is being submitted changing the address of the location of the subject's place of employment and since the subject is still employed as a teacher in a university and he said in 1950, he was a CP member, it is recommended he be retained on the RI- A.
